WASHINGTON, CITY, June 18 1856. My Dear Sir:

I congratulate you on the nomination of your If the nomination of Mr. Buchanan was ac Southern patriotism behold the altar of the Con- ceptible to me at first, it is still more so nowsince I have seen him and heard him speak. The Committee, of which I was one, waited on him rights thus descrated, and lick the hand that at his residence to give him formal and official notice of his nomination, and in the name of smites it, and that tears down with ruthless hand the mighty column of State Rights which supports this imposing political structure of the National Democracy to request his acceptance of it. We found him open, frank, and wholly undisguised in the expression of his sentiments.

Mr. Buchanan said, in the presence of all who had assembled, and they were from the North stood upon the Cincinnati platform and endorsed every part of it. He was explicit in his remarks on its slavery features, saying that the slavery issue was the absorbing element in the canvass. ing importance of that issue, and if elected he would make it the great aim of his administration and inferiority, laid on by the hand of trai-tors, infidels and enemies.

would make it the great aim of his damnets to settle the question upon such terms as should give peace and safety to the Union, and security to the South. He spoke in terms of decided commendation of the Kansas bill, and as pointedly dep recated the unworthy efforts of sectional agita-tation to get up a national conflagration on that question. After the passage of the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas bill was, he said, necessary to harmonize our legislation in reference to the Territories, and he expressed his surgeneral acquiescence which the whole country had epressed in the measures of 1850. After thus speaking of Kansas and the slaver issues, Mr. Buchanan passed to our foreign poli-cy. He approved in general terms of the Cin-cinnati resolutions on this subject. But said that olutions on this subject. But said that able terms, he was for taking it. But he added, i

The Lexington (Mo.) Express furnishes the following statement of the position of the Pro-slavery forces in Kansas and defines its own. The conclusion at which it arrives is just, considerate

It must not be inferred that the great work of driving General Lane and his "Northern Army," as it is called, out of Kausas, has been abandoned. The present disposition of the Pro-slavery party in Kansas is as follows: General Richardson occupies a strong position above Lawrence on the north side of the Kansas River, with no less than nine hundred or one thousand men. General Clark is in the south-east with four hundred men, all Kansas and Cherokee Rangers. The Pro-slavery men on the south side of he Kansas River are with General Reid; who is

But if General Lane is to be allowed to arm and cquip meu in the Northern and Eastern States of the Confederacy, to march them, thus equipped, through seven States into the Territory of Kansas, and all for the purpose of driving out pro-slavery settlers, then we can but feel that it is not only our privilege, but our duty, to protect our own friends. To say that no pro-slavery man now in Kansas shall remain there, is equivalent to saying that no Missourian shall be lowed to go there. And what man, we ask is prepared to submit to such an outrage? Did we ess the power, we would compel meu of all parties to obey the spirit and letter of the Nebraska law; but we do not, and all we can do is to look at the facts as they are and act accordingly.

Women are mistaken when they suppose small foot an element of beauty. A foot should bear a just proportion to the figure; if too large it argues coarseness, and gives a heaviness to the manner—the person labors with a cumbrous platform beneath him, which entirely forbids ease and grace of movement. A large foot, however, argues a certain honesty of character. We are sure Andrey had large feet; we know it instinctively when Touchstone interrupts his discourse with the melancholy Jacques to say, "bear your body more seemly, Audrey."

Large feet imply stability. A man who is jealous in his temper should marry a woman whose feet are large; such are generally keepers at home, and modest withal—they are not given to gadding—their feet abide in their house.

Large feet are incompatible with genius, o the finer shades of character. They have a natural and inveterate planting to the earth, which is not favorable to the flights of fancy, or the delicate observance of sentiment. They are apt to have, also, an unseemly cuff, and what country people call a "ke-chuch" sound, because of weightiness. Such persons, also, who have large feet, are apt to wear the shoe down at the heel—in other words, to go slip-shod—a thing unpardonable and monstrous in such a one, al-beit a dainty foot may be very taking thus carelessly sandalled. But the experiment is hazar

"When swift Camilla scoursthe plain," and the country maiden scarcely starts the 'dew from the grass as she 'trips' along, we are sure their feet are small, for large feet cannot "trip;" hence, when Touchstone says "Trip, Andrey, trip," we know it is in mockery.

Large feet are apt to send the toe up into the air while walking, in most unseemly wise. They

On the contrary, they are apt to lag behind the measure, like the laugh of a cullard behind

No man requiring speed would send a large footed messenger, because of the delay caused by the difficulty which such persons find in overcoming so much force of gravity; therefore more attentions, premium and certificate.

Part of nothing and where try is well symbolized with wings upon his feet. Indeed, as the form of the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the continuous and under the first present the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal, so the foot fixes the destiny of an animal fixed size of the foot is a fair index to character.

We do not like a foot too small for the height, any more than we like one too large. A small foot indicateth coquetry. Cleopatra's foot must have been small and finely arched, or she would never have done as described by Enobarbus "I saw her once Hop forty pacca through the public street."

No woman ever did or would have done the like but with the consciousness of great perfec-Antony sends her pearls, saying:

"The firm Roman to great Egypt sends This freasure of an oyster; at whose feel, To mend the petty present, I will piece fler opulent throne with kingdoms." No man alludes to a woman's foot in any way he loves har, unless it be beantiful. Hermione, on the contrary, had a firm, well proportioned foot, betokening majesty When she enacts the statue scene, we are sure she had a well-sized foot.

"Oh! royal piece, There's magic in thy majesty," is the exclamtion of Leontes. A woman will never enact the part of a statue case of Madam de Stael, who at one time per-sonated in this way; and Talleyrand, if we mistake not, offended her, past artrieve, by saying he knew who it was by the pes destal, (pedestal, a terrible pun where the feet and ankles are ill shaped.

Desdemona, Ophelia, and Cordella must have on the contrary, had elegantly proportioned feet, worthy the chaste Diana hersell. Kate, dainty Kate, the sharp shrew, the pretty vixin, had a little arched foot, graceful and elastic as the spring of the tiger. When Petruchio says,

"Why doth the world report that Kate doth limp t was a delicate commendation of her foot: stil nore when he says,

"Did ever Diana 30 become a grove, As Kate this chamber with her princely gan:") Tennyson hath a delicate eye for a foot when "She stood Her hack against a pillar, her toot on one Of those tame leopards. Kitten like he rolled And pawed about her sandal." And again, describing the retinue of the prin cess climbing the rock in pursuit of minerals, he 88 V8:

"Many a light fool shone a jewel sel in the dark crag." Women with large feet never like to climb the

The sentiment of beauty is less in size than in The sentiment of Deauty is less in size than in a certain lightness and elasticity. "Light as a fawn," "Fleet as the greyhound," "With a step like the stag," are all pretty phrases, indicating the character of the foot, which is the index to the whole woman. Dress has a great effect upon the foot, and we fear very long dresses demoralize it. The long robe certainly destroys its elasticity. We like o see the foot "Beneath the petticoa Peep out and in, like little mid Which shun the light." That was very pretty in a lover who saw his mistress bathing her feet in a brook, and wrote

"Do not fear to put thy feet Naked in the water sweet; Fear not; lizard, newt or toad Will not date to come where thou hast trod."

The French foot is meagre, narrow and bony; the Spanish is small and elegantly curved, thanks to its Moorisn blood, corresponding with the Cas-tilian pride—''high in the instep.'' The Arab foot is proverbial for its high arch; "a stream can run under the hollow of his foot " is a description of its form. The foot of the Scotch is large and thick—that of the Irish flat and square—the English short and fleshy. The American foot is apt to be disproportionately

A foot should be arched, fairly rounded, and its length proportioned to the height of the individual. It should have a delicate spring to it, as if it did not quite belong to the earth, and touched it daintily if not disdainfully. The ankle should express tenderness—should be round and firm, and not too small. "I have hurt the wrist of my foot," said a beautiful child, who never misplaced a phrase, because words were given him only as he stood in need of them. Now this pretty phrase, "wrist of my foot," conveys the true idea of an ankle. It should have the grace and flexibility of the wrist, to which it corres ponds. Touching this subject we often thought it unseemly when beantiful women go to sandalled, and we see them place their foot so composedly on the knee of the artisan, with the white covering nestling away amid frills and embroidery. We were the morconvinced of this unseemliness when we read the following lines, sent to the house, together with a pair of delicat gaiters, from one of our fashionable city shoe

"A little glove stirs up my heart, as tides stir up the ocean And anow white muslin, when it fits, wakes many a cur ous notion;
All sorts of lad yfixins thrill my feelings, as they'd orter
But bttle female gatter-boots are death, and nothing short-

An amusing fragment of a love-letter is given in a recent English paper. The writer

"How I wish my own dearest Adelaide, tha my engagements would permit me to leave town and go and see you. It would be like vis-ting some old ruin, hallowed by time, and fraught with pleasing recollec tions.' Whether Adelaide took this as a compliment or not is not mentioned.

An Inference.—A country editor, in speak-ing of a steamboat, said: "She had twelve berths in her ladies' cabin." "Oh, life of me!" exclaimed an old lady upon reading this, "what a squalling there must have been." Hon. B. L. Clarke will address the citizens of Kentucky at the following times and places, upon

Liver Complaint,
Oppression after eating,
Palpitation of the Heart,
Pain in the pit of the stomach, or towards the right side,
Sallowness of complexion,
Depression of spirits and irritability of temper, &c.
If a case of dyspepsia should be neglected, most serious effects may ensue, for it lays the foundation for, is the incipient cause of, and very frequently terminates in consumption. I would impress apon the mond that to trifte with this disease, may be to sport with that reason which constitutes man super-eminent among animal beings, or to embitter existence by adding a consciousness of tolly to the penalty of pain.
This medicine is prepared entirely from vegetable substances; the most deficate stomach can bear it conveniently, and it is given with perfect safety, in minute doses to the most tender infants, its properties being of a strengtheming and invigorating nature. It is neatly put up in bortles, with ample directions for use.
The following testimonials from some well known and respectable citizens of Philadelphia, are fully corroborative of the tried efficacy of the Aut Dyspeptic Elizir.

Atteteation. We, having used William's Auti-Dyspectic Elixir will the most perfect satisfaction and success, take great pleasure in recommending it to all persons stating with this pepsia, as we are fully convinced of its most estimable qualities in restoring the digestive powers, removing alpain and uneasiness, and imparting a healthy tone to the tomach. omach.

Consumption Cured,

DAILY'S Inhaling Vaper is used in the cure of diseases of the Lungs. Worn sorthe breast, the heat of the body causes an evaporation, which will be constantly inhaled by the patient, passing gently into all the air cells and passages of the lungs, and supplying every part with a soothing and healing vapor, while the patient is taking buily's Extract of Gusing or Honey Syup, for the cough and debility, and his Baisann of Walson, for the unguire state of the blood. It is acknowledged by all that by inhaling marsh miasma, or noxious vapors or air, the lungs become diseased. Is it not equally true that, supplying the lungs with an invigorating and heating medicine, will restore them to health?

Dr. Daily keeps on hand a general supply of Family Medicines of his own compounding, to cure diseases incident to our climate. Haily's Family Practice, 824 pages, price five dollars, can be had at Haily's Pain Extractur Repot, No. 78 Second street, between Market and Jetterson, 1802.

STOVE, GRATE, COPPER, TIN, SHEET-IRON AND HOLLOW-WARE MANUFACTURERS, No. 536, Northwest corner Main and Third streets Louisville. Ky,

I N calling the attention of dealers in our line in this market, we would state that during the last six months our attention has been directed to getting up a large number of new Stove and Grate Patterns, which, added to our alroady large stock, gives us one of the most extensive and diversified assortments in the western market. Among the number, we would refer to our "Asiland Kentuckian Cook Stove, (three sizes out.) These Stoves have great weight of metal, highly finished and elegant in appearance. They combine all the modern improvements that practical experience has developed.

We would invite dealers to call and examine for themselves, and we think in quality, price. See, they can be suited. Having enlarged our manufacturing department, we can promply meet all demands. Thankful for the patronage which has been so kinkly bestowed upon us, we can remain the first of the best, and satisfaction given in all casees.
